

FIGHT OVER LEGISLATION OF STRIKES EXPECTED

BRITISH OFFICERS ARE EXECUTED

Cork, Nov. 19.—The execution of the two British officers as spies was announced by the Sinn Fein today. According to the announcement Captain Greene and Captain Chambers, who recently kidnapped were tried for espionage and then put to death.

PRICE OF CANNED GOODS AT HIGH MARK, SEARS SAYS

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Prices of canned goods will be no higher and may be somewhat lower in the coming months, according to Walter J. Sears of Chillicothe, O., president of the National Canners Association, said here.

Standard inspection voluntarily on the part of association members will be inaugurated in this year's output, it was announced.

Canned goods prices are at a very low ebb on account of lack of markets and the necessity of canners liquidating their finished product, according to H. A. N. Daily, president of the National Association of Canned Food and Dried Food Brokers, who spoke before the opening session of the Western Association of Canners here.

"Government selling of surplus war material demoralized the canned food industry," he said. "These goods are nearly all absorbed now and business is regaining its lost ground."

HAITIAN PRISONER KILLED BY MACHINE GUN IS TESTIFIED

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Nov. 19.—Additional evidence charging Freeman Lang, formerly a Corporal in the marine corps, with the murder of Haitian prisoners, was presented before the Naval Court of Inquiry investigating the activities of the American marines in Haiti.

The evidence was presented by Meratus Toussaint, a native gendarme. He testified that Lang called a prisoner from the Hinche jail in 1918, questioned him and killed him with a machine gun at 10 paces when the prisoner was walking quietly away. The witness denied that the victim was trying to escape when he was killed.

Toussaint also testified he saw Lang apply the electric current running from a wireless apparatus to a prisoner to make the man talk. Asked in cross examination, if the application proved to be fatal, the witness replied:

"I cannot say, but he died in prison two days later."

LOW SALARIED MEN PAY TAX BURDEN

Washington, Nov. 19.—Low salaried men and women and not war millionaires, are carrying an overwhelming percentage of the government's tax burden. This announcement was made by Internal Revenue Bureau today in disclosing detail figures on the 1918 tax returns.

In computing the tax liability of persons having salaries of $5,000 and less, the bureau said this group paid income tax on net incomes aggregating about $9,000,000,000 or about 80 per cent of the total net income. Men in the class of millionaires, or better, paid on the basis of net incomes scarcely exceeding $1,500,000,000.

SEVEN MORE ARRESTS MADE IN WEST

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 19.—Seven additional arrests were made in Council Bluffs today in the mail robbery case involving $3,500,000. T. A. Daly, in whose chicken house many securities were found; H. A. Reed, a roomer at the Daly home and five negroes of the John Bell family were taken as suspects. The arrests came as a result of confessions made by Fred Paffenbarger, who admits he is one of the members of the gang which plotted the robbery.

A large amount of loot and the automobile in which the bandits escaped Saturday evening have also been recovered by the police.

TO MAINTAIN PRICES

New York, Nov. 19.—The present base prices for iron and steel products will be maintained by the United States Steel corporation and all its subsidiary companies, it was officially announced here today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors.

CONGRESS WILL FACE PROBLEM OF ARBITRATION

Seek Restoration To Transportation Act Of Anti-Strike Clause.

IS EFFECTIVE WEAPON

Senator Cummins Believes This Means Better Than the Strike.

Washington, Nov. 19.—A fight over compulsory arbitration of strikes by federal government is anticipated by members of congress during the approaching short session.

Senator Cummins, Republican, of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, said today he would seek to have restored to the transportation act the anti-strike provisions adopted by the senate but rejected by the house during the last session.

He believes, he added, "a campaign of education" would convince organized labor that the anti-strike provisions would insure railroad employees receiving a "square deal" in disputes between them and their employers.

Senator Cummins said he was re-elected on Nov. 2, after the organized labor forces in his state, arrayed against him at the outset of the campaign as an author of the transportation act began to understand toward its close the merits of the anti-strike provision which he had advocated.

Effective Weapon.

"I believe railroad men are becoming convinced the anti-strike provisions would provide them with a more effective weapon and prove more advantageous to them than the strike," Senator Cummins said. "I am sure they are beginning to understand that the creation of an anti-strike tribute as was proposed under the transportation act would insure their receiving a wage as to insure their living decently and possession of proper working conditions."

"When I sought re-election to the senate I do not believe I had the support of any railroad men in my state. I found they were not informed as to the real meaning and purpose of the anti-strike provision for advocating of which I was so widely criticized. So I undertook a 'campaign of education' and I believe when the election took place I had the support of a majority of the men who first opposed me."

He admitted he expected to encounter considerable opposition at the coming short session to his plans to have the provisions made part of the transportation.

"This tax is really placed on the people purchasing transportation," the senator said. "It hits those who use the railroads, not those who operate them."

INVESTIGATION INTO MURDER TO FOLLOW NEW LEAD, BELIEF

Cleveland, Nov. 19.—An indictment may be voted before tonight by the grand jury in the second probe of the fatal shooting of Harold C. Kage at the corner of Ninth and Euclid, last May. At the same time the bar association is beginning active steps looking to the disbarment of one of the men mentioned in connection with the case. Chief Justice William H. McGannon, of the Cleveland municipal court.

Every witness who testified either for the defense or prosecution in the trial of Joyce has been summoned before grand jury except Judge McGannon. In addition to these, the two "mystery women" whose names were bruited about in the background of Joyce hearing, are also asked to tell what they know of the diamond ring and other unsolved features of the case.

Judge McGannon, apparently serene in the face of the storm of gossip, issued a statement at his home last night, in which he said that he would not resign, but that, being innocent, he would continue his duties upon the bench from day to day.

LOUIS GIROUX IS HELD.

Los Angeles, Cal., November 19.—Louis Daniel Giroux, son of Joseph L. Giroux, millionaire mining operator of Los Angeles, is under arrest at his home here on a charge of having attempted to evade the selective draft in 1917. Federal officers said the information on which the charge was based came from the man's half brother, George L. Giroux. He was indicted last June.

SCHOOL CHILDREN INJURED.

Chicago, November 19.—Fifteen children were injured when an automobile, in which they were returning from kindergarten, was struck by an automobile driven by a unidentified woman.

LINER PASTORES TO BRING PRESIDENT-ELECT HARDING HOME

The United Fruit Liner Pastores, aboard which President-elect Warren G. Harding will make his return trip from the Canal Zone. Mr. Harding and his party will board the Pastores at Cristobal on November 28 for the return trip. A stop at Norfolk has been arranged by the United Fruit Company, to permit Mr. Harding to go by shortest route to Bedford, Va., where he will deliver an address before the Elks Convention. The photograph shows the Pastores and Captain Glenn, who will pilot the ship home.

MAY DECLARE MARTIAL LAW IN MINING COUNTY OF WEST VIRGINIA FOLLOWING NEW OUTBREAK

JAPAN DENIES UNUSUAL PREPARATIONS FOR WAR; COST IS NOW PROHIBITIVE

Statement Made That Australia and Canada Need Not Fear Invasion Of Japanese Immigrants As Men Are Needed at Home.

London, Nov. 19.—Denial that Japan is making unusual war preparations was issued here today by Dr. Nagai, acting charge d'affaires of the Japanese embassy in the absence of the Japanese ambassador, who is attending the league of nations meeting at Geneva. Dr. Nagai does not think another war is coming.

He said that Australia and Canada need not fear an invasion of Japanese.

Dr. Nagai said there was no reason for Australia or Canada to oppose renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty. "It is not combination for offense or defense," explained Dr. Nagai. "It merely calls for compulsory arbitration should any move be made by Japan upon another nation. Australia and Canada apparently fear great immigration, but this fear is groundless. Japan needs all her men at home. We would not grant permission to our workmen to leave the country unless they see a big material advantage on going."

Dr. Nagai was formerly in the Japanese consular service at Los Angeles and San Francisco.

QUITS AS SCHOOL HEAD; NOW EDITOR

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19.—Dr. John Huston Finley tendered his resignation as state commissioner of education and president of the University of the State of New York. He will enter an important advisory and editorial position with the New York Times.

The resignation is effective Jan. 1 next, at which time Dr. Finley will have completed seven years' service as commissioner of education.

In the statement to the regents in presenting his resignation Dr. Finley recounted the progress made in education in the state in the past few years.

"I have declined," he said, "to consider several presidential and other positions in the educational field because nothing has seemed comparable with this, but I have come at last to the view that I can be of greater service in the important editorial position unexpectedly open to me."

VENIZELOS DENOUNCES CONSTANTINE AS SOVEREIGN OF PRUSSIAN IDEAS OF RULE

MANY OVERCOME BY POISONOUS GAS

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 19.—A large tank filled with chlorine gas, on a Chesapeake & Ohio, freight train, sprung a leak near the depot here. Many persons were overcome by the escaping gas. Albert Vermillion and Ollie Gully, employees of a Maysville factory, are not expected to recover.

Three members of the crew of the freight train carrying the gas were overcome and received medical treatment here.

The car, with five other freight cars was abandoned just east of this city. Stock in the vicinity, it is said, has been killed by the fumes.

Persons living in the neighborhood were compelled to vacate their homes until the fumes had disappeared.

PEASANTS REBEL

Copenhagen, Nov. 19.—"Armed peasants are in rebellion in Ukraine and pitched battles are taking place daily with the reds," said a dispatch to the Tidende today.

SEES GRANDFATHER

Washington, Nov. 19.—The office of John Miller Baer, member of congress from North Dakota, in the house at Vitz, 99, today is awaiting receipt of a building, was broken into and the passports to visit Palestine. "I'm file cases and desk rifled, some time ago over to see my grand father last night, it was discovered today. In Jerusalem," he announced.

GERMANY THREATENS TO BREAK VERSAILLES TREATY WITH ALLIES

Sends Note To League Of Nations Announcing Intention, Unless League Takes Mandatory For Former German Colonies Away From Council.

URGES GERMANY'S ADMISSION TO LEAGUE

Laborite Member Of British Parliament Appeals For Admittance Of Nation—Troops Sent To Vilna District By Members Of the League.

Geneva, Nov. 19.—Germany is threatening to break the treaty of Versailles, according to information from an authoritative source today. Germany has sent a note to the league of nations announcing that she will consider the treaty broken unless the league takes the mandatory for the former German colonies away from the inter-allied supreme council. Germany wants the league to administer the affairs of the colonies, according to the treaty. The German note is said to make the claim that Germany will reserve the right to break the peace treaty unless her suggestion regarding the mandates is favorably received.

Geneva, Nov. 19.—George Nicholl Barnes, a laborite member of the British parliament, speaking in behalf of the world's workers today urged the league of nations assembly to admit Germany to the league as soon as possible.

Barnes spoke at great length and after he had finished there was scattered applause from the delegates. He pointed out that all of the enemies of Germany with the exception of the United States and Russia are members of the league and that the presence of America in the league is greatly desired.

Geneva, Nov. 19.—The first maneuvers upon which Germany's immediate admittance to the league of nations depends began this afternoon when the committee on applications for membership met behind closed doors.

Former Premier Viviani, of France said he was ready to combat any attempt even to consider an application for membership by Germany.

It is evident, however, that a strong swing in favor of admitting Germany has developed since the assembly began its sessions on Monday.

Leading members of the various delegations admitted it was possible that a motion to take Germany into the fold might receive more than a majority of votes.

Favors Proposal.

Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa and the delegates from some of the South American neutrals have regarded with favor the proposal to take Germany into the league in order to help her economically, and it is improbable that they will press their view. France has threatened to withdraw her delegation from the meeting if Germany is admitted which would inevitably threaten the league of nations with disruption.

In view of the absence of the United States and the possibility that America may enter the league at a later date if the covenant is revised, influential delegates are counseling caution and delay in dealing with the admittance of Germany.

Great Britain, France, Spain and Belgium have notified the league that they are putting troops at its disposal for use in the Vilna district to maintain order during the forthcoming plebiscite. Vilna is in Lithuania, but is claimed by both Poland and Lithuania. The city was recently occupied by Polish forces under General Zeligowski who set up a government. This is the first time that the league has decided to use troops and it is possible that other nations may supply soldiers to join the force at Vilna. Reports are current that the troops thus used may form the nucleus of a standing league army for police duty in various parts of the world.

INTRASTATE RATES MUST AGREE WITH INTERSTATE CHARGES

Washington, Nov. 19.—In its first decision on the right of the Federal Government, under the transportation act, to require railroad rates within a state to correspond to the higher levels of intrastate traffic, the Interstate Commerce Commission ordered the railroads of New York to establish passenger and baggage rates on intrastate traffic conforming to advanced rates on interstate schedules.

Similar proceedings are pending affecting more than half the state in the Union.

By its order of last August the commission authorized in the New York region an increase of 40 per cent in freight rates; 20 per cent in passenger fares, excess baggage charges and rates on milk and cream, and also a surcharge of 50 per cent on Pullman accommodations.

Washington, Nov. 19.—"Constantine would not be content to be the constitutional sovereign of Greece if he returned to Athens. He wants to be a sovereign on the Prussian-Hohenzollern plan. His idea is that of a dictator, a sovereign by divine right. The Greek constitution contemplates nothing of the kind."

This declaration was made by Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier of Greece, just before his departure for Nice. The former premier who was virtually ruler of Greece until his overthrow by the monarchists in the general election, continued.

Many reasons militate against the return of the former king. One of them is the Greek constitution which provides for a democratic sovereign for one who is elected by the people in the first instance, but who must exercise his authority as a democratic ruler, executing the will of the people and not merely his own. In the late King Alexander whose death was universally regretted, we found a young sovereign reconciled to this view, who would have adhered to it, we are sure. If he had lived I believe Greece would have enjoyed peace and prosperity under his democratic rule. Under Constantine we should have the return of a dictator, arrogating to himself rights not contemplated by our constitution. His breath of faith toward Serbia, during the world war, and many other acts proved it."

UNBROKEN REST IS ENJOYED BY HARDING PARTY

President-elect On Board Ship Bound For Cristobal.

LEAVES NEW ORLEANS

Will Spend Next Four Or Five Days On Board Ship.

On Board S. S. Parismina with President-Elect Harding, Nov. 19.—If feelings of President-elect Warren G. Harding could be expressed in three words today those words probably would be "safe at last!"

For the next five days or until the steamer Parismina arrives at Cristobal, Senator Harding will enjoy an unbroken rest aboard the ship. Not since before his pre-convention campaign for the nomination has the senator had five days in which he did not have to make a speech, or five days in which he was secure against callers of all kinds and descriptions. For five days at least he is free of office seekers and free from those who want a little private word with the next president. For at least 108 hours there will be nothing but rest.

The senator and Mrs. Harding gave themselves unreservedly today to enjoying the trip and their well earned rest. The Parismina plowed steadily on her way southward into the gulf of Mexico. The Harding party was given a rousing farewell on leaving New Orleans. Drifting down the Mississippi, the senator exhibited much interest in the passing shores.

Weather Unfavorable

Old salts aboard Parismina do not promise particularly favorable weather on the trip. They fear some hard blows as the vessel gets farther south. Fortified with the experience of several ocean trips, the president-elect views the prospects of a blow with equanimity.

It was learned today that Senator Harding's decision not to touch on route at a Mexican port to meet President-elect Alvaro Obregon was reached only after deep consideration and that the chief reason for the decision was not that the steamship company was unable to make the necessary arrangements but that Senator Harding did not feel free to make such a visit except with the acquiescence or approval of the present administration. Senator Harding feels his position in these matters of foreign contact quite keenly.

Senator Harding has been much impressed on his visit to the border with the need for support being given Mexico once she has reconstructed herself from her years of banditry and revolution and established a stable government. While the senator, of course, would not comment for publication on his views it is felt in the Harding party that the senator would not look with disfavor upon a loan from the United States to Mexico once this stable government is assured.

EX-KAISERIN NOW IN CRITICAL SHAPE

FORMER XENIAN APPEARS WITH SHOW AT OPERA HOUSE

Few people who were in the audience of "Twin Beds" at the opera house Tuesday evening, recognized in Norah, the maid, played by Bess Stafford, a former Xenian girl.

More than thirty years ago, Bess Stafford, whose real name was Elizabeth Meskimen, lived here and went to school in this city. At that time she had a bent for the stage, and used to fill in for companies that needed extras when they played at the opera house.

It was more than thirty years ago that Bess Stafford, which is her stage name, left this city, but in her return here Tuesday night, she trod the boards of the same opera house in which she first attempted her profession years ago. While here Mrs. Stafford renewed her acquaintance with several Xenians with whom she went to school or knew, during her residence here a number of years ago. A brother, Frank Meskimen also lived here at that time.

Mrs. Stafford has been playing the part of Norah in this same company for the last six years. Her home is in New York City.

THIEVES RANSACK HOME OF $137,000

Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—Thieves yesterday ransacked the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Richards on 35th street and got away with negotiable securities totalling $137,000, it was learned today. The thieves also took clothing, jewelry and some cash. The Richards came here three weeks ago from Texas.

The stocks were mostly mining certificates.

OHIO SLAYER SENTENCED.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 19.—Michael Nestor, one of a quartet of payroll bandits, pleaded guilty of second-degree murder in connection with the killing of William Howe during a hold-up July 3, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The three others in the band have all been sentenced to life imprisonment.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so easily. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

GIRL SCOUTS RECEIVE CAMPING TRACT AS MEMORIAL TO EX-SENATOR'S DAUGHTER

Former U. S. Senator William Andrews Clark of Butte, Montana, has presented the Girl Scouts organization a tract of 135 acres just outside New York city for a camping place. The gift was made in memory of his daughter Andree. The ceremony took place at the Girl Scouts' national headquarters in New York. In the picture Clark's daughter, Junette, stands back of him. Standing at the left are Mrs. Frederick Edey, Girl Scout commissioner of Greater New York, and Mrs. Arthur Osbourne Choate, national president of the Girl Scouts, who accepted the gift.

SCHACHNE-TINGLEY WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

The marriage of Miss Sara Cromwell Schachne, daughter of Mr. and Abram Schachne of 644 Superior avenue, Dayton, and Lewis Churchill Tingley of this city, which took place at Westminster Presbyterian church, Dayton, Thursday evening, was one of the prettiest and largest of the social season.

The bridal party entered the church at seven thirty o'clock, preceded by the youngest of the bride's sisters, Miss Rosemary Schachne, who wore white georgette over pink satin with a bow of gold gauze in her hair. Preceding the service Miss Margaret Stolz at the organ played a number of selections. Tanhauser's "Evening Star" was softly played during the service.

The flower girls were Harriet Roehl and Betty Rice, who were dressed alike in embroidered net over pink satin and carried baskets of baby pink chrysanthemums. The maid of honor followed, Miss Winifred Gray of Columbus, who wore orchid tulle with silver trimmings and she carried Japanese lilies. The bride's maids were Miss Virginia Schachne and Miss Westanna Brown, whose gowns were of turquoise blue with flower petals of the material applied with silver thread. Each carried Columbia roses. Mrs. Albert G. Lauzon, of Fort Wayne, Ind., attended her sister as matron of honor. Mrs. Lauzon's gown was of peach tulle trimmed with gold lace and she carried baby yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a gown of embroidered net with tucked bodice over which was worn an ivory brocade satin drape with a panel train. Her veil was confined with a bandeau of tulle and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Dr. Bunton and the bridegroom with his best man Leroy Hansel, of Springfield, awaited the bridal party at the altar.

A reception with dancing was held in the ball room of the Dayton Country Club, following the wedding and a large number of guests attended. The receiving line consisted of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lauzon and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Schachne. Music was furnished by Mullin's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Tingley will spend their honeymoon in Chicago and Michigan after which they will make their home in Xenia. Mrs. Tingley is one of the most popular of the Dayton younger set and is a graduate of Southern College, Petersburg, Va. Mr. Tingley, whose former home was Dorchester, Mass., is secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The Xenia guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Chew, Mrs. William Wilson, Rev. and Mrs. V. P. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kelly, Robert Kelly, Dr. and Mrs. Harold C. Messenger, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Adair, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harner.

ENTERTAIN WITH PARTY THURSDAY EVENING.

Mrs. James Ryan entertained about twenty-five young people at her home on West Second street, Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Helen Welsh, whose marriage to John O'Connor will take place next Wednesday.

The party took the form of a miscellaneous shower and Miss Welsh was the recipient of many useful gifts. The evening was spent in games and music and a light lunch was served the guests.

BRIDGE PARTY GIVEN THURSDAY.

Mrs. F. G. H. Schell entertained with fourteen tables of bridge at her home on North Galloway street Thursday afternoon. The color scheme was yellow and white and large baskets of chrysanthemums were used about the rooms. Crystal candlesticks were used in the living room of the Schell home.

The only out of town guest was Mrs. Charles Young of Cleveland, Ohio. A two course luncheon following the color scheme of yellow and white, was served by Mrs. Schell.

SAYS POLITICS AT BOTTOM OF ALLEGED GRAFT

Thorough Investigation Is Prevented By Political Influence.

TESTIMONY IS GIVEN
Treasury Official Takes Stand On Probe Of Shipping Board.

New York, Nov. 19.—Political influence was used to prevent a thorough investigation into the purchase of shipping board supplies at New York, Peter J. Sullivan, for 11 years an investigator for the United States treasury department told the congressional investigating committee here today. Sullivan said he had been ordered to survey to the "bottom" the activities of the purchasing department which was in charge of David Whamond, but that when "certain matters" were being unearched Whamond "threatened to have me pulled off the investigation."

"My month's work had shown," Sullivan continued, "that firms which had made low bids had received scant attention."

"Were you pulled off the investigation?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"Yes, I was transferred to Nogales, Ariz."

"There were no ships operating there?"

"Not to my knowledge."

Sullivan said his assistant, Martin J. Jewell, of New York, was left to finish the investigation. Jewell said he found irregularities in purchases of shipping board supplies and the disposal of these supplies, which in some cases found their way to private boats, and that such things as he found irregular he reported to Captain Charles H. Yates, managing agent of the United States Shipping Board at New York.

"In the purchase of $10,825 worth of condensed milk we found this could have been purchased direct from manufacturing distributors at a saving of $2,450. Jewell said.

"We found that a shipping board employee received commissions on these purchases, one payment being for $200."

The witness said checkers aboard shipping board vessels did not weigh up supplies or check as to quality.

"Orders often were placed with firms which had only 'desk room' and no supplies, and bids were ignored from manufacturers or wholesalers whose bids were lower," Jewell stated.

"On this investigation we merely scratched the surface, being called off by the treasury department which told us the shipping board would conduct its own investigation. "Shipping board officials at New York could not co-operate with us. We found conditions at the shipping board warehouse deplorable. There were no inventories and no means of checking up an enormous supply of goods of all descriptions. We could not ascertain where all the stuff went to."

BANK OFFICIALS EXAMINE SUSPECTS

Police officials here suspect that some of the prisoners may have robbed the Kingston bank.

GAS COMPANY REFUSES OFFER

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—After city council unanimously adopted a resolution providing for increasing the present 30 cent local gas rate to 40 cents the producing company, the Ohio Fuel Supply Company, immediately rejected the proposal.

Gas company officials have asked for a minimum rate of 66 2-3 cents.

AMERICAN FARMS IN DANGER SAYS AGRICULTURAL HEAD

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—That the time will come when American farms will be inhabited by a class of peasantry unless conditions in the agricultural sections of the nation are bettered is the belief voiced here today by Gray Silver, Washington D. C., representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, addressing the farmers' national congress, in session here.

In support of the declaration that things are on the down grade on the farms, he directed attention to draft board reports which showed that 40 per cent of the young men from the farms who were examined, preparatory to service in the recent world war, were illiterate and physically unfit. Only five per cent of those from the cities were illiterate and physically defective, according to these records, he said.

This deplorable situation, Silver declared, was due to bad economic conditions obtaining in the rural sections which prevented farmers from affording their children proper educational opportunities and from giving them proper medical attention.

In order to halt this decline and to safeguard the agricultural interests of the country, the farmers' income must be sufficient to permit them to give their children educational and recreational opportunities equal to those given their city cousins and to make the homes on the farms so attractive that the city and rural folk may exchange visits in a nation wide atmosphere of social equality.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT FAVORS BOY WHO SHOT HIS FATHER

Newark, O., Nov. 18.—Angus Irvine, confined in the county jail here for the murder of his father, Judge Walter A. Irvine last Tuesday night, did not make a request to attend his father's funeral this morning at 10:30. He made no reference whatever to the funeral according to the jailers, although they stated that if he had expressed a desire to attend the service that he would have been allowed to go.

Municipal Judge Frank A. Bolton stated this morning that no arrangements for arraignment had been told to him, but he felt certain that nothing would be done on this matter before tomorrow. The grand jury it was learned from the clerk's office this morning, would not review the case before the January sitting.

When the mother and son met in the jail late yesterday afternoon, the boy said upon parting: "Mother, put hi maway nice, just as though he had been good to us."

Public sentiment here strongly favors the boy and stoutly criticizes the father because of his treatment toward his family, this feeling becoming more pronounced since the mother told her experience of the past twenty-five years, during which time her late husband had inflicted so much punishment upon her family and herself.

BREWERIES TO CLOSE

"AS WOOD IS TO FIRE, SO IS A CONTENTIOUS MAN TO KINDLE STRIFE."

We have been reading an article in a monthly magazine showing how a well meaning man made a nuisance of himself to others, and incidentally injured himself, by his habit of contention—Contention with a capital C on all occasions—in most cases where others present saw no occasion for it.

"I am afraid I shall have to take issue with you on that point, sir," would be his starting off, and away he would go, with vehemence, whether the matter was of great or little import—mostly the latter.

He was an employee, and on one occasion lost his employing firm a large customer by his contentious habit, and finally lost his own situation from the same cause. He wanted to argue every question, and finally argued himself out of employment—although his firm acknowledged he was otherwise a valuable man.

He had "convictions," he said, and that there was only one way to do a thing—the right way—but when probed into, the dispute would often be over some trivial matter, which might easily have been settled by flipping a coin.

"It ain't the size of the matter," he would exclaim. "It's a matter of principle—by jingo a man can't give way on a matter of principle, or soon he'll be backed off the boards—there's just one way to do a thing, the right way."

The author tells a very good John D. Rockefeller story, as follows: It was in the early days while Rockefeller was making his start in Cleveland. He sat one morning, bent over his desk, figuring away, when one of the prominent men of the city strode in, and, pounding on his desk, began to abuse him in unmeasured terms. Rockefeller deliberately laid down his pen, leaned back in his chair, and turning his innocent gaze full on the face of the violent gentleman listened with the look of an earnest student.

His whole attitude and expression seemed to proclaim: "What you are saying is very interesting, very! I must not miss a word of it. Pray go on; I am giving the most careful attention."

For fifteen or twenty minutes the tirade continued without eliciting a single word of response. Finally, in exhaustion, the visitor thumped the desk a mighty thump, exclaiming: "You are the meanest man in Cleveland, sir. A mean man; a very mean man."

"Is that so?" asked Rockefeller mildly, as though some new and extraordinary truth had been imparted to him—something to be written down in a notebook and committed to memory. "Is that so?"

In utter disgust, the peevish gentleman strode out; and Rockefeller, without a glance around the office, without a word, calmly picked up his pen and began figuring away at the exact point where he had been interrupted.

We record this anecdote of John D. not for the sake of praising it. Most of us would prefer to show a little more ginger in defense of our rights, even though it did take our minds off our work for a time, or cost us a little money. The Rockefeller story appealed to me only as a contrast to those who are too dogmatic.

I have a notion that the bigger a man is the more seldom he finds it necessary to fuss. A gentleman named Paul entered the city of Athens many years ago; and walking along Main Street discovered many altars erected to numberless gods. Reaching the market place he essayed to address the Athenians on the subject of the true religion. Most modern evangelists in his place would have opened up with a broadside.

"You're a lot of idolaters," they would have said, "pure pagans. There is one right religion, and only one; and if any of you want to dispute that question let him come out, and we'll go at it here and now."

Instead of which, Paul took quite another course: "It pleases me to see how religious you gentlemen are," he began. "For, as I walked through your city I noted that you have erected altars to many gods, including even one which you have dedicated to The Unknown God. That God, whom you worship without even knowing His name, is the One whom I have come to tell you about."

It was a wonderful chance for a battle; and he might have died gloriously right there—for the faith. But what he wanted was results; and he recognized, as the big man always does, that dogmatism is an exceedingly wasteful process—to be resorted to only after everything else has been tried and failed. Indeed there seems to me no better criterion of greatness than this—the capacity to differentiate between the essential and the non-essential.

As we progress toward old age, shouldn't we find ourselves growing a little surer of what our own duty is and quite a bit less certain as to what the duties of our neighbors are, or how much me ought to set them right?

At least, so it seems to me. There is an old saying to the effect that "The meek shall inherit the earth." It sounds rather strange, and few have regarded it seriously. Meekness is not a showy virtue; it seldom gets onto the front page of the newspapers. One can much more surely acquire reputation by shouting his disagreement at his neighbor; by setting the world right in loud tones.

But when the final scores are counted up, it's surprising to find how often the meek were going on quietly inheriting, while the rest of us were fussing.

THE BRITISH OPPOSE OUR RIGHT TO "ESQUIRE" EACH OTHER.

Dispatches from London announce that the government, through the Royal College of Herald, is taking steps to restrict the misuse of the title "esquire," and to put an end to its unwarranted assumption. Indeed, overseers or heraldic "visitors" have been appointed to organize special grand juries in the various counties for the purpose of scrutinizing the qualifications of the various people in the district to the title of esquire.

Strictly speaking the style "esquire" is a nobility title, a fact which will doubtless astonish many on this side of the Atlantic who, professing a sturdy republican contempt for such gewgaws as honorific distinctions, make a constant and daily use of the term. It is a title which is always a source of perplexity to foreigners, that is to say to others than the English-speaking races, and who in their courteous anxiety to do the right thing often add the word esquire in full, or in the abbreviated form of "Esq.," to a name already adorned with the prefix of "Mr."

Esquire is the English equivalent for the German "edlet," with the particle of "von," of the French gentilhomme, with the particle of "de," of the Spanish hidalgo, and of the Portuguese fidalgo. Being a nobiliary title, only a limited number of people have a legal right to style themselves esquire. They may be divided into two classes, namely, those who are esquires by virtue of inheritance or by grant of arms by the crown, and those who are esquires ex officio. The latter comprise duly ordained divines of the Church of England; deputy lieutenants of counties; judges; commissioned officers of the army and navy, and of the higher ranks of the civil service and members of the bar.

FIRST PHOTOGRAPH SENT BY WIRE IN U. S. SHOWS PRACTICABILITY OF INVENTION

The picture printed above is a direct reproduction of the photograph sent by the Post-Dispatch from St. Louis to the World Building in New York and is reproduced "untouched" and the exact size received. The time of transmission of the photo of the Indian chief was eight minutes.

New York, Nov. 19.—(Special)—

The photograph of an Indian chief, laying on the desk in the offices of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, was transmitted by wire to the editorial rooms of the New York World recently in just eight minutes.

That picture, which accompanies this story, is the visible record of the first successful attempt ever made in America to transmit photographs over a wire, and the first demonstration of the apparatus invented by M. Edouard Belin, eminent French engineer and bearing the name of telegraph.

The apparatus, experts say, is destined to come into general use in a few years.

M. Belin was brought to the U. S. to make his experiments by the New York World.

The process of receiving a photograph is not spectacular. The room is dark, save for the light that escapes at the top of the brass cylinder in which is the lamp making the picture. There is the hum of a motor revolving under a force of 110 volts furnished by a battery, and the rhythmic click click, of the attachment that cuts off for an instant the current coming over the line at every revolution of the receiving cylinder, thus synchronizing the machine at the two ends of the line.

The Time Taken
The process takes from eight to ten minutes, depending on the size of the picture. The actual development of the photograph on the sensitized film cannot, of course, be seen, for this is in a light-proof case penetrated only by the ray of light reflected from the vibrating mirror through a hole one-sixth of a millimetre in diameter.

Those who stand close enough, however, can see between the mirror and the receiving cylinder a ray of light dancing back and forward on a slide of glass, and if they look very closely they observe that this glass is black at the end and transparent at the other with all gradations of shade between.

The uninitiated in photography and electricity were puzzled by this and asked a multitude of questions as to what it was but the scientists recognized instantly that this little piece of graduated glass was the heart of the whole device, for it is this that varies the intensity of the light ray and makes it impinge upon the sensitized film with varying degrees of light and shade.

The tiny mirror also aroused great curiosity. Few could see it at all, for it is hidden between two heavy magnetic coils, being exactly in the center of their flux, so one must know just where it is and from where to look before one can see it. It looks like a brilliant pin head and is about that size, and it needs a good eye to follow its rapid and minute vibrations. It is suspended from two silver wires, so fine that only a few eyes can see them without a microscope.

The vibrations of this mirror, it was explained to those present, are controlled by the vibrations of the microphone at the sounding point. This microphone carries the needle which passes over the graduated surface of the picture to be sent. Thus the microphone and mirror, working perfectly together, translate a photograph record into terms of light.

The Lamp was a puzzle even to the electric lighting experts present, for it was the first of its kind ever seen in America. It is made in England specially for experimental purposes. It is a tiny arc-light in a bulb. The arc is formed between a filament of platinum and a ball of tungsten and is so intense that it gives 100-candle power at what is virtually a point. Incidentally, lighting engineers were informed that these lamps have a lifetime of only ten hours and cost about $5 a piece. So there is no likelihood of their ever being introduced for household use!

After the picture of the Indian chief had been received, M. Belin sent two photographs over the wire to St. Louis. The first of these had been taken at Princeton during the football match on Saturday afternoon. The Post-Dispatch telegraphed a few minutes later that it had been received in excellent condition.

Rippling Rhymes

Walt Mason

THE IMPOSSIBLE.
I cannot talk worth fourteen cents, and so no spiels I spring; and much I envy gifted gents who make the welkin ring. Chau-tauqua magnates ply their game, and promise bundles fine, if I'll but write my moral name upon the dotted line. And often I am tempted sore; then I hear Conscience say, "What right have you, I ask, to bore an audience for pay? You know that every time you've tried to paint the welkin red, a lot of wilted eggs were shied, in anger, at your head." How much of boredom we'd avoid, how much of language blue, if fewer fellows were employed at work they cannot do! I'm weary of that singer's screech who knocks the notes to pulp; I'm tired of hearing blacksmiths preach, and seeing farmers sculp. I'm glad that I have sense enough to know where I'm a frost, and so I dodge the platform stuff, though at a frightful cost; for there the easy money lies, and there the soft snaps grow; the country's full of talking guys who trade hot air for dough. But as a speaker I am tough, which cannot be denied; I'm glad that I have sense enough to let the welkin slide.

TO BROADEN SCOPE OF INVESTIGATION

Washington, Nov. 18.—The American committee of one hundred which has started to lay before the American people a definite idea of conditions in Ireland, has decided to broaden the scope of its investigations. Fred C. Howe, acting chairman, announced today that in addition to formal hearing of testimony in this country, the committee would send a mission to England and Ireland to investigate killings, disorders and economic conditions there as well as the extent to which the Irish people could evolve their agencies for self government.

START FUND TO AID NEW JASPER FAMILY VICTIMS OF FIRE

More than $50 in money, and clothes and other necessities, have been subscribed in New Jasper to a fund to rehabilitate, Mrs. Rhoda Smith, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, who, with the latter's year-old infant, were driven from their home north of New Jasper early Tuesday morning by fire which destroyed the structure.

The blaze started at five o'clock in the morning while Mrs. Smith and her daughter-in-law were still in bed, and with the infant they were forced to vacate their house in their night clothes. Neighbors supplied them with clothes, and they are now moving to New Jasper, where the fund has been started in their behalf and is being held at the W. B. Warner store.

Roy Smith rose early Tuesday morning and started the fire in the kitchen stove. While he left the house temporarily, it is believed that the kitchen walls caught from the overheated stove and although neighbors rushed to the scene, it was impossible to save the building. The was story and a half frame structure.

Only a few articles of household goods, including a folding bed, rug, mattress and bed clothes were saved. About $600 insurance on the house and contents was all the protection held. The same family sustained a fire loss several years ago when the house on the place was burned down and the present structure was erected by the insurance company at that time.

EDISON DEVICES AIDED U. S. NAVY BEAT U-BOATS

"Listener" Warned of Torpedoes, and "Drag" Aided Escape.

AIDED NIGHT SAILINGS Strategic Harbor Maps and Camouflage, Revealed In Daniels Report.

The Sunday New York American publishes the following dispatch from Washington:

The part American ingenuity played in winning the war is disclosed in a history of the Naval Consulting Board of the United States, made public by Secretary Daniels today.

The volume reveals achievements which if projected a decade ago, probably would have been ridiculed as "visionary." Chief among these was a device by which the launching of a torpedo could be heard on shipboard 6,000 yards away or further than a torpedo can be effectively launched from a submarine.

This invention was but one of a score or more contributed by Thomas E. Edison, president of the board.

Mr. Edison appears to have been the moving spirit of the board. Forfeiting his laboratory at the outbreak of the war, he practically became a naval officer. He spent most of his time in the Navy Department offices here, and took long deep-sea cruises that he might be in closer touch with the problems to be solved.

His "Listening Device." Because of the German submarine menace, ship protection claimed most of the attention of the board. To this problem Mr. Edison devoted his traditional twenty-hour working days, and after overcoming many obstacles finally perfected his listening device.

This contrivance was in the form of an outrigger suspended from the bowsprit of a vessel and containing an immense phonograph diaphragm. By means of compensators, the noise of the vessel's engines was obliterated, thus making it possible for the device to work perfectly even when the ship was plowing at full speed through the roughest seas.

With this device boats moving 1,700 yards away could be readily heard while the vessel was going full speed. A submarine bell five and one-half miles away could also be heard while a big storm was in progress and the boat also proceeding at full speed.

Mr. Edison followed this invention with a device for the quick turning of a vessel whenever the detector indicated that a torpedo was coming in the vessel's direction. He did this by means of strong conical canvas bags. A heavy rope was attached to the mouth of the bag, and a light rope, in a slip knot to the tapering end.

The "Drag" For Quick Veering. When cast into the sea the mouth opened, filling the bag with water and thus acting as a drag. By pulling the lighter rope the small end of the bag was opened. This let the water out, instantly relieving the resistance. Four of these bags cast from the side of a 5,000 ton vessel laden with 4,000 tons of coal, caused it to turn 90 degrees from her course in two minutes, with an advance of only 200 feet. Night sailing of ships next attracted

HAS THE POWDER READY FOR ANY AND ALL EMERGENCIES

Scranton Woman Tells How to Have a "Doctor" Always in the House.

The doctor referred to is Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powder. Mrs. Holvey is right. Sufferers from stomach ills ought to have this powder always in the medicine chest. She tells why:

"I think there is no other medicine in this world so good for indigestion and stomach trouble. Dr. Jackson's Digestive and Liver Powder has done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken. I feel that I could not get along without it and I shall always give your true medicine my highest praise and hoping that I may always be in reach of it, for I don't know how I could be without a box of your powder in the house. I can truthfully say that I have never taken one dose of your powder, no matter how great the distress but that I got instant relief."

ed his attention. By working day and night over the records of submarine sinkings he discovered that not more than six percent of the sinkings took place at night.

Mr. Edison commenced to work out his plans for the ships to sail in and out of the danger zone at night; to forsake the old standard lines of travel as much as possible; to anchor through the day in comparatively shallow waters and harbors where submarines could not approach them, steaming only at night to other ports of anchorage on the way to their destinations.

Strategic Maps. Mr. Edison prepared a new set of strategic maps on which he charted the harbors in which there was safe anchorage for a long distance inshore in comparatively shallow, but safe waters, where submarine could not approach submerged.

Other wartime inventions by Mr. Edison were a cartridge for taking soundings; a convey light visible to all the vessels in the convoy, but invisible from the decks of a submarine; an underwater seacight cable of throwing rays 200 feet; a projectile that would enter the water from an angle instead of ricocheting; a stabilizer for submerged submarines and a time fuse to cause shrapnel to burst only six feet above the ground.

He devised a mask to protect observers on the tops of masts from smokestack gas, a turbine head for projectiles which enabled the latter to be fired from smooth bore guns and still have rotation and accuracy; drew up plans for mining Zebrugge Harbor, and developed a method by which communicating signals between warships could be sent by means of mirrors.

Prevented Sinkings. Mr. Edison devoted a great deal of thought to various plans for preventing sinkings, and he suggested a number of schemes to this end. One of these was a proposition to furnish merchant ships with a type of specially designed 3-inch shells filled with an oleum smoke-producing compound with which to blind submarines if they had long range guns.

The problem of extinguishing fires coal bunkers he solved with a small stream of silicate of soda played on a coal or wood fire. The moment the silicate strikes the incandescent body the small quantity of water in the silicate evaporates and the glowing body becomes coated with a glassy surface, excluding the oxygen and extinguishing the fire.

"Direction Finder." The study of a direction finder for hostile airplanes was undertaken to determine the direction of a plane before it was visible, by determining the direction of the source of the sound given off by its engines. This is how it was done:

Two horns at a fixed angle to one another conveyed the sound to opposite sides of the same diaphragm and swung the horn system, both in horizontal and vertical planes, until there was no movement of the diaphragm, because the sounds conveyed by both horns were of equal value and therefore neutralized one another.

It was found very difficult to get zero readings, but with some training on the part of the observer the direction could be determined with considerable accuracy.

Having learned that telephone systems on ships were not reliable, Mr. Edison devised one that was. He discarded microphones and substituted the receiving phone for a transmitter. The signals being weak he amplified with an audion, which made the signals so loud as to be painful to the ear.

Mr. Edison also invented an extension ladder which could be attached to the top of the mast and give an observer a location 87 feet above the top of the mast. This device increased the area of observation.

MY WIFE WAS IN A BAD WAY WHEN SHE BEGAN TAKING DRECO

She got satisfaction from every dose of Dreco, the great herb remedy, and soon her nerves were quiet, sleep became sound, constipation relieved and dizziness disappeared.

"When I left home this morning the last thing my wife said was 'Be sure to bring home some more Dreco.' It has done her so much good she doesn't want to miss a dose," said Mr. C. F. Chatt, of Miamisburg, Ohio, Route No. 2.

"She is growing stronger every day and each dose gives satisfaction," he continued. "Her bowels act regular every day and it is not like taking the ordinary physic, but gives so much comfort. Her nerves have been quieted so she does not get excited

Thought His Time Had Come—Disappointed

"I never was more surprised in my life than when I took the first dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. ## LOCATE FOURTH MAN IN CHICAGO CASE ABOARD STEAMER

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The fourth man in the Grant Park tragedy in which Marie Ramey and Lillian Thompson, actresses, lost their lives, was arrested early today aboard the steamship, E. E. Loomis at Sault Ste Marie, according to word received by the Chicago police. Although given the name of "McCarthy" in confessions made by Harris Jorgenson, Lawrence Jorgenson and Marcus Brumberg, the man taken at Sault Ste. Marie gave the name of Michael Cox, of Port Huron, Mich.

Cox at first denied any connection with the tragedy but finally broke down, according to police reports, and confessed that he had met the actresses early last Saturday evening and had entertained them several hours. He denied that either he or the girls were intoxicated as charged by the Jorgenson brothers and Brumberg. Cox said that he did not enter the automobile when the girls joined the Jorgensons and Brumberg and that he was not at any time in Grant Park.

FIND MISSING BOY ENLISTED IN NAVY AT DAYTON OFFICE

Clarence Hisey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hisey, of Cincinnati avenue, who has been missing from his home since Tuesday morning, enlisted in the U. S. Navy at the recruiting office in Dayton, Tuesday, it has been learned by his parents, Friday.

From Dayton, the lad, who is only 14 years of age, but large for his age, was sent to Cincinnati, it was learned, and as soon as his exact whereabouts are discovered, Mr. Hisey will go after the boy. At the recruiting office at Dayton, he told officers he was older than he really was, it has been learned, and because of his size, his story sounded plausible. He will be released from the service as soon as affidavits are presented by his father giving his true age. He will be returned to this city by his father.

The boy was not seen after leaving to go to school Tuesday morning. Police were notified and the lad's father searched for him in Dayton. Thursday afternoon a posse led by Pennsylvania railroad Detective Latimer, searched the country between here and Trebeins in the belief that the boy had met with an accident.

It was learned Friday that the youth was given a ride to Dayton on the Jesse Gilbert transfer truck, which operates between this city and Dayton, and that there he entered the Navy.

During his absence parents of the boy were distracted over his strange disappearance.

RUMORED RAILROAD DEAL IF COMPLETED WOULD PLACE XENIA ON LINE TO DETROIT

Neither denial nor confirmation of a rumor that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company intends to purchase the road of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, recently purchased by Henry Ford, in order to give it entrance to Detroit, could be obtained from officials here Friday morning.

The rumor gained credence through a story published in the Lima News and Times-Democrat, which suggested the possibility of a faster passenger, or freight service between that city and the lakes, than that furnished by either the Baltimore and Ohio or the New York Central Lines, the present connecting links.

The story says: "Verification of the deal cannot be secured in either New York or Detroit, but it is persistently rumored in railroad circles that the Pennsylvania has bought the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton. At first blush this seems unimportant except as a coal road from the southern and West Virginia fields to the lake port and automobile center of the world."

"But the deal as outlined by a local traffic man Wednesday night changed the entire complexion of the present Pennsylvania system in Western Ohio. According to this official the Pennsylvania has long wanted to get into Detroit, and some time ago purchased terminals and is now routing passenger trains from Toledo over the Pere Marquette."

"This new deal will not affect Toledo," he said "but it will give the Pennsylvania a routing from Cincinnati to Detroit as follows: Cincinnati to Xenia on the Pan Handle, thence to Springfield, over the D. T. and I., to Lima, cutting out Napoleon, making a direct shoot from Lima through Tecumseh to Detroit. It will make the Pennsy the direct recipient of L. and N. business from New Orleans and the south and give it also a direct coal road over the branch from Springfield to Ironton. As understood now, there would practically be a consolidation of the line into another subsidiary from Xenia to Detroit."

If such a deal should be completed by the Pennsylvania system, it would change the entire status of the present short branch line between this city and Springfield, and increase the railroad importance and road facilities of this city. At present the Springfield line is but a short branch but its connection with a through line to Detroit would convert the branch into a main line, give this city direct freight and passenger connection with Detroit and the other cities along the route, increase the importance of this city as a railroad terminal and its standing as a change station for all points on the Pennsylvania and increase its industrial possibilities.

INFORMS PRINCES
THEY MAY RETURN
Athens, Nov. 19.—The government of Premier Rallis today informed the royal princess who left Greece as a result of the expulsion of ex-King Constantine that they may return if they wish to do so.
Queen Mother Olga, mother of ex-King Constantine, has issued a manifesto to the public asking the people to remain calm. She declared that "unity, liberty and equality have now been restored in Greece."
The queen mother may take the oath as regent when parliament convenes next week.
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—An unconfirmed report was received here today that three Americans have been killed in strike disorders in the state Coahuila. Neither government officials or owners of the coal mines where the riots occurred have been able to verify the report. It is admitted however that turbulence in the mining fields is increasing.

HUNTER NEGLECTFUL OF GETTING PRIVILEGE TO HUNT ON FARMS

That hunters are just as neglectful of the law which requires that they seek permission of landowners before entering on property for hunting purposes as they ever were, is borne out in the magistrate's court in the county, where game wardens have already brought a number of Nimrods for violations of this law.

It is not required in the law that farmers or landowners post "no hunting" signs, or publish notices of that nature as a warning, but it is required that hunters secure permission of these landowners before they enter the property. Violation carries liability of arrest and fine in a squire's court.

The use of ferrets for hunting rabbits will also be watched closely by game wardens from now on. After the first few days, the rabbits run in their holes, and many hunters employ ferrets in chasing them out. The state fish and game laws say: "Unlawful to take a hare or a rabbit with ferret or to have a ferret in possession or under control in any of the fields or forests of the state of Ohio, or while hunting going hunting, or returning from a hunt. Owners of young fruit orchards may use a ferret to destroy rabbits or hares when doing actual and substantial damage to fruit trees."

shortening. Add the corn milk gradually. Place the dough on a floured board, cut in two and roll out. Put in two shallow greased baking pans and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. Slowly dissolve the cornstarch in a little milk, gradually add the rest of the milk, and cook with oysters and seasonings.

Pour half the mixture on top of one pie crust, cover with the other and pour the rest over the top crust. Serve immediately.

Or, if preferred, use only one pie crust and pour oysters on top, using a deep dish.

Cover with a meringue made of two egg whites, stiffly beaten, one teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon salt and two chopped sour pickles. Leave in hot oven a few minutes until lightly browned.

Grilled Oysters (A Late Supper Dish).—Melt butter in chafing dish and when smoking hot drop in the oysters, browning on both sides. Heat the oyster shells and serve the hot oysters in individual hot shells. Garnish with chopped pickle or thin slices of lemon and parsley. Serve with crisp, hard crackers.

Curry of Oysters.—Two tablespoons butter, one tablespoon flour, one-half cup milk, one-half cup oyster liquor, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon onion juice, two teaspoons curry powder.

Cream the butter and flour in a saucepan with onion juice, add the curry powder, and when smooth the oyster liquor, milk and salt. Finally add the oysters and cook until the edges curl.

"Pigs in Blankets."—Place a few oysters on thick, round slices of buttered bread with a thin slice of bacon, a few drops of lemon juice and cayenne. Roll oysters up in the bacon and leave in a hot oven until the bacon is cooked. Serve immediately with a garnish of watercress.

"The Woman He Married"

BY JANE PHELPS

A MOVIE THAT WARNED

Chapter 17

"I don't see how I am to get through the month, Dick, unless I have a little more money," I said one evening a little later.

"I gave you all I could."

"But what did you do with the rest?"

I had always handled all his salary except his own lunch and smoke money.

"I gave the doctor some on account, and the druggist."

"But why not let them wait? It wouldn't hurt them."

"No perhaps not. But it would both hurt and worry me."

"I don't see why—let the other fellow walk the floor," I repeated Clara.

"There's no use of your worrying. You know you would pay it sometime."

"No, Nan! You're a wrong point of view. I wish I could do more for you dear. It makes me very unhappy to see you so dissatisfied."

"Oh, but I'm not! Not very often. But it sometimes seems that when you work so hard you should be paid more."

"I am paid more. But we can't use it until we get even again. Then when you can have that $50 you will see a difference."

"I hope so! There's need enough."

I urged him to go to the movies. I saw he was restless, and I also wanted to get away from my thoughts. The picture was a disappointment to me. It told all about a wife who ruined her husband by her extravagance, motor cars, country homes, et cetera. Dick leaned over to me once and remarked:

"You see, Nan, how it works out, when ones runs into debt." The woman had run her husband thousands of dollars in debt.

"Oh, such debts as that—of course!" I answered.

"The principle is the same."

We said no more, but when I declared I had not cared for the picture, Dick said that he thought it an exceptionally good one. We seemed never to think alike about things any more.

Clara Watson came in the next morning. She said she had called up, had wanted us to come down and play bridge. I told her we were at a picture show, and that it had bored me, although Dick had liked it.

"We often go. Jim says a good picture rests him," she replied, "but I can't say that I care very much for the people we see there. They haven't any style."

"No—and at the theatre the audience interests me as much as the play," I rejoined.

"That's what I tell Jim, but he does not see things as I do. A married woman has to go where her husband wants to pretty much, or else stay at home. We work all day just as they do, but to hear men talk one would think all we did was to sit on a cushion and sew a fine seam, like the woman in the Mother Goose Stories."

"Yet you and Jim are happy together. Think how many people quarrel and are miserable."

I knew as I said that marriage was beginning to seem at times a very sordid thing to me—this daily planning to get what I wanted, and then make ends meet, the longing for luxuries—a longing I encouraged instead of stifling, by letting my thoughts dwell upon my desires.

"Oh, well," Clara broke in, "lots of women will put up with anything for a home." Then we talked of the baby, the new pillows I intended to get for the carriage, and other things.

"Has Mrs. Stowell been to see you again?" Clara asked.

"Yes, she has been here three times. I was out twice, and wished I had been the other time. I hate to have her climb those stairs, but she is just wild over Junior. Says she never cared much for babies, but thinks him adorable. How I wish we could take that flat over in the same house with you. If I only had a little money of my own! But I haven't a penny only what Dick gives me."

"I'm in the same fix. I have always envied wives who had a private income of their own. But try and get Dick to come over. Perhaps he could if he would. A good many men are like that," she finished. I said nothing because I knew he knew nothing of my debts again—that we could not afford more rent.

"I shall have to do something to entertain Mrs. Stowell, Clara. You will have to help me. Dick would say to have her lunch here, but I am not going to do it. I'll take her to lunch somewhere downtown with me. You must come too, and meet her."

"I'll be delighted, and will help you all I can."

Tomorrow—Plans for a Luncheon.
